

Olivia Collings

Work history:

Currently working as senior writer at B&T Magazine, the number one industry magazine for the marketing, media and advertising industry in Australia. Prior to joining B&T Magazine I worked as a reporter at the Maitland Mercury and was responsible for the weekly production of the Lower Hunter Weekend Star. During my time at the Mercury I work on my weekends at Tempus Two Winery in the cellar door and at major events such as the Elton John concert.

Prior to the Maitland Mercury I worked at Liquor Watch, a trade publication for the alcohol industry.

Previous to this I spent four years working at The Sun Herald and Sydney Morning Herald as an editorial co-ordinator, researcher and administration assistant. This work was carried out during my degree at the University of Technology Sydney, where I completed a Bachelor of Communications Journalism.

I have also worked in the retail and promotions industry during my university years.
